Cryptocurrency arbitrageurs cash in on wide price disparities between exchanges

DISCLAIMER: This document is not an offer to sell securities of any investment fund or a solicitation of offers to buy any such securities or digital assets. Securities of the Fund managed by the General Partner are offered to selected Investors only by means of a complete offering memorandum and related subscription materials which contain significant additional information about the terms of an investment in the Fund (such documents, the "Offering Documents"). Any decision to invest must be based solely upon the information set forth in the Offering documents, regardless of any information investors may have been otherwise furnished, including this document.

An investment in any strategy, including the strategy described herein, involves a high degree of risk. There is no guarantee that the investment objective will be achieved. Past performance of these strategies is not necessarily indicative of future results. There is the possibility of loss and all investment involves risk including the loss of principal. Securities

INVESTMENT STRATEGY — The Virgil Sigma Fund, LP's (the "Fund") Market-Neutral strategy takes an arbitrage approach to the cryptocurrency market. Virgil Capital LLC (the "General Partner") utilizes a proprietary algorithmic trading system that continually scans for price differences between cryptocurrency markets where there is available liquidity and automatically trades opportunities while adhering to a set of internal risk management protocols.

THE OPPORTUNITY

1 VOLATILITY — The cryptocurrency market contains frequent and sharp price divergences. Bitcoin's ("BTC") volatility has ranged from 3% to 9% on a rolling 30-day basis for the last 12 months, with frequent and significant price jumps. Comparatively, BTC is 5x more volatile than Gold and major fiat currencies, which ranges from 0.5% to 1% over a given year.<sup>1</sup>

2 INEFFICIENCY — The cryptocurrency trading market is highly fragmented. There are over 100 cryptocurrency exchanges, several of which are only accessible to citizens of their domicile.

3 NASCENCE — We believe that there is minimal significant institutional engagement in the cryptocurrency market and only a small percentage of funds actively invest in cryptocurrencies. Some big players are only now beginning to take notice.
